BILL TOO RADICAL

SHOULD BE CAREFULLY ANALYZED, WRITES SENATOR REED

IT NEEDS AMENDMENTS

Currency Bill Must Not Be Rushed, as It Affects the Entire Country, Re States.

Senator James A. Reed has written a letter to Ed M. Harber of Trenton in regard to his position on the currency bill. The letter is as follows:

"I am in receipt of your telegram with reference to the currency bill, and am writing to express my appreciation of your interest.

The currency bill as it came from the house proposed changes in our banking and currency systems of a most radical character. It seems to me, and to a majority of the members of the committee on banking and currency, that a measure of such far-reaching importance and which affects the interests of all the people, should be carefully analyzed and studied before being enacted into a law.

It further seems only right that hearings should be granted, that the committee might have the benefit of advice and counsel not only of students of finance and bankers, but all other classes of people interested. We have therefore devoted some two or three weeks to hearings, and probably will extend these hearings for ten or twelve days more. The hearings in the aggregate will probably not exceed the time frequently taken to try out an important lawsuit, and yet the issues involved are, as I have stated, of the gravest nature and affect the entire country.

"Of course the committee might have accepted the house bill and passed it; and without in the least criticizing that measure, we might have found ourselves acting in haste only to repeat at leisure.

There is a familiar maxim, 'Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.' Few people agree to assign themselves to either class. The middle, which course consists in moving with due care and caution, and at the same time proceeding with all proper diligence, seems to be more advisable. This is particularly true when one is dealing with a measure like the currency bill.

Experts in finance have differed most widely regarding the meaning and effect of this measure. Beyond all question, it needs important amendments.

"So far as I am concerned, I shall insist that a reasonable time be taken and that the defects of the bill be remedied, so far as the ability and intelligence of the committee can suggest amendments. When all that is done we may still conclude that we are only using ordinary common sense in thus proceeding.

"It must be remembered that we have lived under the present system for nearly fifty years. We can afford to take the time necessary to wise action. This is what we all want. There is a curious effort being made to railroad this bill, a good measure can always wait patient and careful scrutiny; bad measures certainly ought to have this kind of scrutiny. We shall do the best we can. My only regret is that the best may not approach perfection of wisdom.

"By the way, Ed, let me inquire—and I do it kindly—whether you have yourself ever thoroughly read and examined this measure. If you have not done so, I shall be glad indeed if you will give the bill a careful reading. It is not always safe to follow newspaper comment, which is frequently inspired and more frequently ignorantly made.

"Write me whenever you are interested. I like to hear from my friends.

"Very sincerely, your friend,

"JAMES A. REED."

Two Big League Teams to Battle in That City on Saturday, October 25.

Maryville base ball fans will have an opportunity of seeing the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants in a game at St. Joseph on Saturday, October 25. The two big league teams are on a tour of the United States previous to their sailing for the Orient and on the trip around the world.

It is an assured fact that Charlie "Old Roman" Comiskey, the president and sole owner of the Sox, and John J. "Little Napoleon" McGraw, manager of the champion New York team, will accompany the clubs on their trip. Thirty-five games will be played in the United States by the White Sox-Giants stars, who inaugurate their world tour at Cincinnati Saturday. Beginning October 18, they will play every day, the weather permitting, up to and including November 19. After their game at Seattle on that date they will board a chartered tug, which will carry them to Vancouver, B. C., where they will take the liner which will carry them to the Orient.

The foreign itinerary has not been completed, nor has the personnel of the White Sox party.

The State Teachers' association meets in St. Louis within a few days. The Republic desires to suggest to this body the importance of working out some plan whereby the glories of Missouri may be taught in our schools and the knowledge of them become the common property of the rising generation of boys and girls.

Take physical Missouri. Why should not every child in the schools of the state learn the characteristics of every part of the state, its products and possibilities? Why should not the children of Cameron and Kirksville learn of the rich, level black lands of the delta country of Southeast Missouri with their corn and cotton, and the children of Cape Girardeau and Poplar Bluff be told of the wonderful bluegrass prairies north of the Missouri? Why should not the beauties of the Ozarks be pictured to the children of the cities and the principal buildings and industries of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph be made familiar to the eye of every child in the fastnesses of Missouri's hills?

Why should not the incomparable resources of the state to the great river system of the country, its fuel and mineral resources, its climate and rainfall, be driven home to the understanding of every child? Why, in short, should not every child educated in Missouri schools be made a herald of Missouri's greatness and richness, just as California children are of the resources of California?

On the personal side the same possibilities exist. There are things in the speeches of George Graham Vest which ought to be known by heart by every Missourian. When Thomas Hart Benton, a St. Louis attorney, was elected United States senator from Missouri his practice consisted largely of Missouri land grant cases—enormously profitable as litigation went in those days. He called together his clients and told them that he was going to the senate. He said that since he, as a senator, would have a share in making laws which might vitally affect their interests, he could not longer serve them. They asked him to recommend someone to take their matters in hand. He replied that he could not even do that—that he must be free to think and act only for the state and the nation in matters affecting the public domain. Is not this worth the telling?

This state has an early history rich in examples of pioneer virtue and courage. It has produced warriors, plainsmen, trappers and pathfinders as worthy of song and story as the heroes of Longfellow and Cooper. Cannot we etch their exploits upon the memories of our children? State pride of the senseless, adjectival kind is offensive and valueless; but the pride which is backed by knowledge of the state's history and resources Missouri has too little of and should cultivate by every means in her power.—St. Louis Republic.

The Fly on the Ceiling.

Now is the season of the year when flies "stick." They crawl into corners of the ceiling where it is difficult to reach them or cling to light fixtures and refuse to be "shooed." Don't try. There is an easier way. The vapor caused by dropping twenty drops of carbolic acid on a hot shovel will kill all the flies in a room.

Pyrethrum powder burned in a room will stupefy the flies and cause them to fall to the floor, when they may be swept up.

A cheap fly poison that is not dangerous to human life is made by dissolving one drachm of bichromate of potash in two ounces of water to which a little sugar is added. Put in shallow dishes about the house.

The flies that find warm corners for the winter are the parents of next summer's swarms.

Socials Were Well Attended.

The socials at the various churches Friday night for the pleasure of the students in the city were well attended.

At the First M. E. church about 150 were in attendance. The company was divided into four groups that entertained each other at various games. The two parlors were gayly decorated in green and white and red and white, respectively, and all the young people of the church were on the reception committee. After the games a debate was held and the four classes were made into two sides for the subject, "Resolved, that chicken roasted round is much better than chicken roasted square." Charles Moore and John Jones represented the affirmative and Miss Beatrice Sewell and John Mutz the negative, the affirmative being declared winners. A luncheon was served and everybody had a fine time.

At the First Christian church there were about eighty in attendance. It was a numerical social and all the games and contests were of that nature. Miss Laura Scott and Robert Wells were the winners in the contests. Apples, cider and popcorn were served.

At the First Presbyterian church the guests numbered about sixty and progressive games were played at eight tables. The parlors were beautified with vines and pink and white cosmos. The luncheon consisted of cider, chop suey cakes, cheese wafers and marshmallows.

At the First Baptist church 100 attended. The guests were received by Miss Hazel Everhart, Miss Ella Richards, Orla Quinn and Ursle Crockett, and cider was served by Miss Helen Burris and Miss Louise Rowlett. The parlors were decorated in the State Normal colors, green and white, with pennants and ribbon streamers, while a large bank of white petunias, sweet alyssum and vines was arranged just back of the punch bowl. After playing games of all sorts, proverbs were matched, and the task of guessing on shadow pictures afforded considerable fun, the prize going to Miss Ruth Harrington. Coffee and doughnuts were served at the close of the evening.

HINT AT NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST MRS. EATON Prosecution in Murder Trial Seeks Missing Will.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 18.—A hint at evidence not yet received was given by the state at the continuation of the trial for murder of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton.

This had to do with a typewritten document alleged to have disappeared from the Eaton home after the death of Rear Admiral Eaton. Dorothy Ainsworth, the younger of Mrs. Eaton's daughters, by an earlier marriage, was asked by District Attorney Barker what she knew of such a paper. The defense objected, whereupon the district attorney called on Mrs. Eaton's attorneys to produce the document. The matter was not pressed, but Mr. Barker said he hoped to introduce the paper later.

After the admiral's death a search was made for a will alleged to have been made by the admiral after the date borne by the will filled for probate, which left his property to the widow and his stepdaughters.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Blind Spiritualist Who Encouraged Suicide Pact Is Convicted.

Murfreesboro, Ark., Oct. 18.—F. G. Farrell, a blind spiritualist charged with first degree murder in connection with the suicide pact that resulted in the death of Mrs. T. J. Turner and Miss Rhoda Carter at Glenwood, Ark., Sept. 16, was convicted of murder in the second degree.

During the trial T. J. Turner, the husband, admitted giving poison to the two women after the three had agreed to die together to end their dependency. He took some of the drug, but recovered.

Turner said Farrell had encouraged the suicide pact through the medium of seances at the Turner home. It was the contention of the state that the motive of Farrell in bringing about the suicide pact was to secure possession of Turner's property. This, it was charged, had been deeded to Farrell by Turner.

Cabinet Members See Battle Practice.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Secretary Daniels, with Secretaries Garrison and Redfield and their wives, Mrs. Daniels, the Misses Burleson, daughters of the postmaster general, and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, left here on the Mayflower to see battle practice of the Atlantic fleet off the Virginia capes to day. President Wilson cancelled his plans to see the ships in action, because of the currency situation in congress. White House officials ridiculed stories that the president cancelled his engagement because of illness.

Vote is 43 to 12.

The high court of impeachment, by a vote of 43 to 12, removed Sulzer from office.

The proposition of disqualifying Sulzer from ever again holding a place of honor or trust in the state was voted down unanimously.

Prior to the vote on his disqualification and removal, the last four articles of the impeachment charges, 5, 6, 7 and 8, were unanimously voted out.

Those who voted against the removal of the governor were Senators McKnight, O'Keefe, Peckham, Seelye and Wheeler, Democrats; Emerson, Heacock, Stivers, Thomas and Whitney, Republicans; Duhamel, Independence League and Democrat; Palmer, Republican and Progressive.

At their own request, Presiding Judge Cullen and Senator Wende were excused from voting. Every other judge of the court of appeals voted for removal.

Foreign Diplomats Think United States Should Act.

Mexico City, Oct. 18.—"That the United States must act to put an end to the impossible conditions constituting a daily menace to the lives of foreigners in Mexico, was the opinion expressed by several of the diplomatic representatives who assembled for an informal conference in the German legation here."

Among those who attended were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Austria and Norway.

Duke Charged With Manslaughter.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 18.—Alfred C. Hoglund, who was injured when an automobile driven by Laurence Duke, son of Brodie Duke, the tobacco manufacturer, ran into a group of men gathered about a disabled automobile in the road, is improving, but not yet out of danger. Henry G. Farr and Thomas G. Simmons were killed by the automobile. Duke is free on $5,000 bail. A charge of manslaughter will be placed against him, according to the prosecuting attorney.

Marconi in Auto Accident.

Bologna, Italy, Oct. 18.—Guglielmo Marconi, the wireless inventor, was in another automobile accident similar to the one which cost him the loss of an eye some time ago. While motorizing with his wife to Pontecchia his motor car collided with a cart while turning a corner. The chauffeur turned quickly and ran the machine into a horse. The shock broke all the glass in the automobile and scattered it over the occupants, none of whom, however, was injured.

GLYNN TAKES OATH OF OFFICE Becomes Governor in Place of Deposed Sulzer.

LATTER DENIES ALL CHARGES.

Ballet Against Disqualifying Him From Again Holding Office Is Unanimous. He Is Found Not Guilty on the Last Four Articles.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Martin H. Glynn was sworn in as governor. Presiding Judge Cullen of the court of appeals administered the oath of office.

Glynn, who became governor of New York as the result of the removal of Governor Sulzer, issued a statement saying that he would insist on economical, clean, orderly and efficient transaction of the state's business.

He declared, "I will not devote the time which I owe to the state to partisanship politics."

Everything at the executive mansion is in readiness for the Sulzers departure. They will leave Albany Sunday afternoon, not to return. Their immediate destination, it was said, would be some quiet hotel, probably in the Adirondacks, for a few days. Where they will make their future home they have not decided, but Mrs. Sulzer insists that it shall be within an hour's ride of New York.

Sulzer is of the opinion that an attempt to take the case to the supreme court would be of little use and it is doubtful if such procedure is followed.

Attorney Louis Marshall, however, was reported to be considering such an appeal, more to establish the constitutional status of the case than in the hope of restoring Sulzer to power.

Sulzer Issues Statement.

The outgoing executive issued a statement, in which he denounced the tribunal which had removed him as "Murphy's high court of infamy."

"Murphy controlled the assembly and ordered the impeachment," he said. "He controlled most of the members of the court and dictated procedure and wrote the judgment. He was the judge and jury, the prosecutor and the bailiff."

Sulzer declared that his trial was a "political lynching as far as the Tammanyized part of the court was concerned."

He asserted he had not taken the stand in his own defense because he realized that his story attacking the Tammany leader would be ruled out.

He entered a general denial of all the charges in the impeachment articles.

AIRSHIP BLOWS UP, KILLING TWENTY-EIGHT

Zeppelin Dirigible Destroyed by Fire on Initial Trip.

Berlin, Oct. 18.—Twenty-eight persons were killed near Johannishall in the explosion and fall of Count Zeppelin's latest dirigible balloon, the

The twenty-eight men represented the entire personnel of the admiralty board, which was to conduct the final trial of the dirigible, looking to its acceptance by the government as a new unit of the German aerial navy, the pilot and crew and invited guests.
Every person that went aloft in the big airship is dead.

Many of the bodies were so burned and mangled as to be unrecognizable.

Twenty-seven of them were killed almost instantly by the explosion of the gas in the balloons or burned to death as the flaming wreck fell to the ground from a height of 900 feet and enveloped them. One man, Lieutenant Baron von Bleul of the Queen Augusta Grenadier guards, a guest of the admiralty board, was extricated alive from the mass of twisted wreck age.

His eyes were burned out and he suffered other terrible hurts. Begging his rescuers to kill him and end his sufferings he was taken to a hospital, where he died.

The official report of the accident says the explosion was due to the istillation of gas in or above the forward gondola, but not within the body of the airship.

The navy was not the only sufferer through aviation accidents, for three army officers were killed in aeroplane flights—Captain Haeseler, Lieutenant Koch and Sergeant Mante.

The soldier's burial service was con-

The sons and a grandson of the deceased acted as pall bearers. They were Abraham, Isaac, Samuel, George

Mrs. Katie Cassidy, a daughter of North Dakota, arrived in time for the funeral, and a grandson, Clyde Kime of Wellsville, Kan., was present.

Waterloo, Ia., Oct. 18.—"For genera-

Secretary of State William Jennings
Bryan so declared at the Iowa State

President Wilson's administrative measures.

Secretary Bryan was speaking of the pending currency bill.

"The currency bill is the most remarkable currency measure that we ever have had," he said. "It gives to the bankers enough to make them happy and doesn't enable them to take enough to make the people miserable.
There is one feature about this bill that should win the support of every banker doing a legitimate banking of the new bill the government loans

BILL TOO RADICAL

SHOULD BE CAREFULLY ANALYZED, WRITES SENATOR REED

IT NEEDS AMENDMENTS

Currency Bill Must Not Be Rushed, as It Affects the Entire Country, He States.

Senator James A. Reed has written a letter to Ed M. Harber of Trenton in regard to his position on the currency bill. The letter is as follows:

"I am in receipt of your telegram with reference to the currency bill, and am writing to express my appreciation of your interest.

"The currency bill as it came from the house proposed changes in our banking and currency systems of a most radical character. It seems to me, and to a majority of the members of the committee on banking and currency, that a measure of such far-reaching importance and which affects the interests of all the people, should be carefully analyzed and studied before being enacted into a law.

"It further seems only right that hearings should be granted, that the committee might have the benefit of advice and counsel not only of students of finance and bankers, but all other classes of people interested. We have therefore devoted some two or three weeks to hearings, and probably will extend these hearings for ten or twelve days more. The hearings in the aggregate will probably not exceed the time frequently taken to try out an important lawsuit, and yet the issues involved are, as I have stated, of the gravest nature and affect the entire country.

"Of course the committee might have accepted the house bill and passed it; and without in the least criticizing that measure, we might have found ourselves acting in haste only to repeat at leisure.

"There is a familiar maxim, 'Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.' Few people agree to assign themselves to either class. The middle, which course consists in moving with due care and caution, and at the same time proceeding with all proper diligence, seems to be more advisable. This is particularly true when one is dealing with a measure like the currency bill.

Experts in finance have differed most widely regarding the meaning and effect of this measure. Beyond all question, it needs important amendments.

"So far as I am concerned, I shall insist that a reasonable time be taken and that the defects of the bill be remedied, so far as the ability and intelligence of the committee can suggest amendments. When all that is done we may still conclude that we are only using ordinary common sense in thus proceeding.

"It must be remembered that we have lived under the present system for nearly fifty years. We can afford to take the time necessary to wise action. This is what we all want. There is a curious effort being made to rail-road this bill, a good measure can always wait patient and careful scrutiny; bad measures certainly ought to have this kind of scrutiny. We shall do the best we can. My only regret is that the best may not approach perfection of wisdom.

"By the way, Ed, let me inquire—and I do it kindly—whether you have yourself ever thoroughly read and examined this measure. If you have not done so, I shall be glad indeed if you will give the bill a careful reading. It is not always safe to follow newspaper comment, which is frequently inspired and more frequently ignorantly made.

"Write me whenever you are interested. I like to hear from my friends.

"Very sincerely, your friend,

"JAMES A. REED."

Clearmont is to have a special election on Friday, October 31, for the purpose of voting on the question of increasing the indebtedness of that town to the amount of $400 per year above the current revenue for a period of ten years, or a total indebtedness of $4,000, for the purpose of lighting the streets. The polling place will be in J. B. Maddox's carpenter shop, in that town, and the judges of election will be W. H. Sowers, W. R. Smith and R. Lebonia.

The Lee Electric Light company of Clarinda, Ia., made Clearmont the same proposition as they did Elmo, and if the election carries at Clearmont that company will furnish the current. W. Ben Starkley of Des Moines, Ia., a former Maryville boy, who would like to have this city receive the Freedman Institute for Missouri, is in the city today and announces that a clinic will be held here Monday, the place not having been selected as yet. Dr. C. M. Porter of the Iowa institute will be in charge, and will give the treatment. There are several who have already signified that they would be here to take the "tuberculosis cure." It is said that Carl Wright will be one of them.

Again, the Indians would not kill a wolf. They carried a tradition with them that the wolf was the dog of their ancestors, and they protected him as if he was sacred to them.

When Mr. Lamar came to the county the Indians were located near the Nodaway river, in the west part of the county, and the Lamar family settled near there.

DRAG THE ROADS.

Now is the time to drag the roads, and all farmers should do so. They will probably not get an opportunity to do so again this winter. The roads are in a bad condition on account of the recent rains and also from the fact that they have not been using the drag on them.

The State Teachers' association meets in St. Louis within a few days. The Republic desires to suggest to this body the importance of working out some plan whereby the glories of Missouri may be taught in our schools and the knowledge of them become the common property of the rising generation of boys and girls.

Take physical Missouri. Why should not every child in the schools of the state learn the characteristics of every part of the state, its products and possibilities? Why should not the children of Cameron and Kirksville learn of the rich, level black lands of the delta country of Southeast Missouri with their corn and cotton, and the children of Cape Girardeau and Poplar Bluff be told of the wonderful blue-grass prairies north of the Missouri? Why should not the beauties of the Ozarks be pictured to the children of the cities and the principal buildings and industries of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph be made familiar to the eye of every child in the fastnesses of Missouri's hills?

Why should not the incomparable relation of the state to the great river system of the country, its fuel and mineral resources, its climate and rainfall, be driven home to the understanding of every child? Why, in short, should not every child educated in Missouri schools be made a herald of Missouri's greatness and richness, just as California children are of the resources of California?

On the personal side the same possibilities exist. There are things in the speeches of George Graham Vest which ought to be known by heart by every Missourian. When Thomas Hart Benton, a St. Louis attorney, was elected United States senator from Missouri his practice consisted largely of Missouri land grant cases—enormously profitable as litigation went in those days. He called together his clients and told them that he was going to the senate. He said that since he, as a senator, would have a share in making laws which might vitally affect their interests, he could not longer serve them. They asked him to recommend someone to take their matters in hand. He replied that he could not even do that—that he must be free to think and act only for the state and the nation in matters affecting the public domain. Is not this worth the telling?

This state has an early history rich in examples of pioneer virtue and courage. It has produced warriors, plainsmen, trappers and pathfinders as worthy of song and story as the heroes of Longfellow and Cooper. Cannot we etch their exploits upon the memories of our children? State pride of the senseless, adjectival kind is offensive and valueless; but the pride which is backed by knowledge of the state's history and resources Missouri has too little of and should cultivate by every means in her power.—St. Louis Republic.

The Fly on the Ceiling.
Now is the season of the year when flies "stick." They crawl into corners of the ceiling where it is difficult to reach them or cling to light fixtures and refuse to be "shooed." Don't try. There is an easier way. The vapor caused by dropping twenty drops of carbolic acid on a hot shovel will kill all the flies in a room.

Pyrethrum powder burned in a room will stupefy the flies and cause them to fall to the floor, when they may be swept up.

A cheap fly poison that is not dangerous to human life is made by dissolving one drachm of bichromate of potash in two ounces of water to which a little sugar is added. Put in shallow dishes about the house.

The flies that find warm corners for the winter are the parents of next summer's swarms.

Blake-Harman.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season occurred on Wednesday evening, October 15, at the lovely country home of Mrs. Louise Blake, four and one-half miles northeast of Graham, when her third daughter, Miss Eva, was united in marriage to Mr. Clark D. Harman, both of Graham.

At 6 o'clock, in the presence of a number of guests, the words were spoken by Rev. Harry K. Morga, pastor of the Methodist church of Graham, which made their hearts beat as one, and they became husband and wife together.

Immediately after the ceremony they were ushered into the dining room, which had been most beautifully decorated with pink and white, and were seated at the table, where a most eloquent three-course supper was served.

HINT AT NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST MRS. EATON

Prosecution in Murder Trial Seeks Missing Will.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 18.—A hint at evidence not yet received was given by the state at the continuation of the trial for murder of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton.

This had to do with a typewritten document alleged to have disappeared from the Eaton home after the death of Rear Admiral Eaton. Dorothy Ainsworth, the younger of Mrs. Eaton's daughters, by an earlier marriage, was asked by District Attorney Barker what she knew of such a paper. The defense objected, whereupon the district attorney called on Mrs. Eaton's attorneys to produce the document. The matter was not pressed, but Mr. Barker said he hoped to introduce the paper later.

After the admiral's death a search was made for a will alleged to have been made by the admiral after the date borne by the will filled for probate, which left his property to the widow and his stepdaughters.

Everything at the executive mansion is in readiness for the Sulzer departure. They will leave Albany Sunday afternoon, not to return. Their immediate destination, it was said, would be some quiet hotel, probably in the Adirondacks, for a few days. Where they will make their future home they have not decided, but Mrs. Sulzer insists that it shall be within an hour's ride of New York.

Sulzer is of the opinion that an attempt to take the case to the supreme court would be of little use and it is doubtful if such procedure is followed. Attorney Louis Marshall, however, was reported to be considering such an appeal, more to establish the constitutional status of the case than in the hope of restoring Sulzer to power.

Sulzer had encouraged the suicide pact through the medium of seances at the Turner home. It was the contention of the state that the motive of Farrell in bringing about the suicide pact was to secure possession of Turner's property. This, it was charged, had been deeded to Farrell by Turner.

Cabinet Members See Battle Practice. Washington, Oct. 18.—Secretary Daniels, with Secretaries Garrison and Redfield and their wives, Mrs. Daniels, the Misses Burleson, daughters of the postmaster general, and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, left here on the Mayflower to see battle practice of the Atlantic fleet off the Virginia capes today. President Wilson cancelled his plans to see the ships in action, because of the currency situation in congress. White House officials ridiculed stories that the president declined his engagement because of illness.

Vote is 43 to 12. The high court of impeachment, by a vote of 43 to 12, removed Sulzer from office.

The proposition of disqualifying Sulzer from ever again holding a place of honor or trust in the state was voted down unanimously.

Prior to the vote on his disqualification and removal, the last four articles of the impeachment charges, 5, 6, 7 and 8, were unanimously voted out.

Those who voted against the removal of the governor were Senators McKnight, O'Keefe, Peckham, Seeley and Wheeler. Democrats: Emerson, Heacock, Stivers, Thomas and Whitney. Republicans: Duhamel, Independence League and Democrat; Palmer, Republican and Progressive.

At their own request, Presiding Judge Cullen and Senator Wende were excused from voting. Every other judge of the court of appeals voted for removal.

GLYNN TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Becomes Governor in Place of Deposed Sulzer.

Ballet Against Disqualifying Him From Again Holding Office Is Unanimous. He Is Found Not Guilty on the Last Four Articles.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Martin H. Glynn was sworn in as governor. The defense objected, whereupon the district attorney called on Mrs. Eaton's attorneys to produce the document.

Glynn, who became governor of New York as the result of the removal of Governor Sulzer, issued a statement saying that he would insist on economical, clean, orderly and efficient transaction of the state's business. He declared, "I will not devote the time which I owe to the state to partisan politics."

During the trial T. J. Turner, the husband, admitted giving poison to the two women after the three had agreed to die together to end their dependency. He took some of the drug, but recovered.

Turner said Farrell had encouraged the suicide pact through the medium of seances at the Turner home. It was the contention of the state that the motive of Farrell in bringing about the suicide pact was to secure possession of Turner's property. This, it was charged, had been deeded to Farrell by Turner.

As a matter of fact the medical profession has given this remedy its qualified indorsement. Sulzer Issues Statement.

The outgoing executive issued a statement in which he denounced the tribunal which had removed him as "Murphy's high court of infamy."

Murphy controlled the assembly and ordered the impeachment," he said. "He controlled most of the members of the court and dictated procedure and wrote the judgment. He was the judge and jury, the prosecutor and the bailiff."

Sulzer declared that his trial was a "political lynching as far as the Tammany part of the court was concerned."

He asserted he had not taken the stand in his own defense because he realized that his story attacking the Tammany leader would be ruled out.

He entered a general denial of all the charges in the impeachment articles.

Mexico City, Oct. 18.—"That the United States must act to put an end to the impossible conditions constituting a daily menace to the lives of foreigners in Mexico, was the opinion expressed by several of the diplomatic representatives who assembled for an informal conference in the German legation here."

Among those who attended were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Austria and Norway.

Hoglund, who was injured when an automobile driven by Laurence Duke, son of Brodie Duke, the tobacco manufacturer, ran into a group of men gathered about a disabled automobile in the road, is improving, but not yet out of danger. Henry G. Farr and Thomas G. Simmons were killed by the automobile. Duke is free on $5,000 bail. A charge of manslaughter will be placed against him, according to the prosecuting attorney.

Marconi in Auto Accident.

Bologna, Italy, Oct. 18.—Guglielmo Marconi, the wireless inventor, was in another automobile accident similar to the one which cost him the loss of an eye some time ago. While motorizing with his wife to Pontecchia his motor car collided with a cart while turning a corner. The chauffeur turned quickly and ran the machine into a horse. The shock broke all the glass in the automobile and scattered it over the occupants, none of whom, however, was injured.

An Astounding Discovery which, it is Believed, Will Increase the Average Length of Human Life 20 Years.

A Marvelous New Treatment for Cure of Chronic Constipation and Kindred Complaints. Jane Foster, Humanity's Benefactor, Gives Long-Sought Secret to the Waiting World.

"Yes," said Mrs. Foster, whose sunny countenance crowned by a luxuriant growth of grey hair, testified to a long life spent in the service of humanity. "It's true that I have cured many people by my marvelous remedy. As a matter of fact I've yet to find a single case, either man or woman, who has failed of a complete cure by following my treatment.

For nearly 20 years I myself was a victim of chronic constipation and its kindred complaints. It seemed as though I tried everything—physics, laxatives and purgatives innumerable. They helped me temporarily but were followed by an inevitable reaction, leaving me in worse condition than originally. Then I tried various laxative foods—they were of little benefit; physical exercise was only a temporary relief. Finally I was reduced to taking disgusting enemas and internal baths; still no permanent improvement. Doctor after doctor despaired of helping me. My constipation merely became more stubborn—my headaches and mental depression constantly increased.

Abandoning all hope of help from the regular channels I decided that I myself would make a thorough study of the problem involved and see if there were not some remedy for my seemingly hopeless condition—some cure for my longstanding trouble. I never completely lost faith; intuitively I felt that somehow—somewhere—I would find a remedy. For months I pursued my investigation, I will not bother you with the details—let it suffice to say that finally after months of research I stumbled upon this wonderful and utterly simple remedy. Buried in the bosom of old Mother Nature ever since the creation of the world at last it was discovered. It cured me—I believe that it will cure anybody. It has never yet failed.

As a matter of fact the medical profession has given this remedy its qualified indorsement. Professor Metchnikoff, the famous Belgian scientist, in talking to Dr. Lane, the eminent English surgeon who strongly indorses this treatment, said, "The explanation is simple—you get rid of the germs that breed in the lower bowel. The poison generated in the colon is the chief cause of our comparatively premature old age." My method of treatment removes this poison—hence will doubtless increase the average length of life of the human race.

"What is the real secret of your successful treatment, Mrs. Foster?" I asked.

"Wait a day or two until my new free book is off the press," was the answer. "I'll give you a copy—that should answer your question. But I'll say this much, so far as I know my treatment is entirely different from any method ever in general use. It is not in any sense a purgative or laxative every one of which, even the mildest, is eventually followed by a reaction leaving the patient worse off than originally. It is not a disgusting enema nor does it demand physical exercise or massage, nor is it an internal remedy to be absorbed by the system, nor is it internal bathing which is self-evidently opposed to every law of nature. No, my treatment is, I firmly believe, entirely different in principle from any remedy ever in general use in the history of the human race. It is, I believe, something new under the sun.

For hundreds of years humanity has suffered from the ills caused by constipation. Headaches, piles, hemorrhoids, auto-intoxication, mental depression, torpid liver, biliousness, lack of energy, muddy, yellow complexions, self-poisoning, and many cases of indigestion and appendicitis—these are but a few of the many ailments which result from constipation and which my treatment has never failed to cure. Constipation, the fundamental cause removed, the attendant complaints disappear as if by magic.

"I am getting along in years now," said the benevolent old lady reflectively. "Much of my life has been spent in service for others. Now the precious privilege of doing a great work for humanity has been vouchsafed me. I shall dedicate my few remaining years to this great cause. I want every man and woman in the country who needs my treatment to write for my free book. There is no obligation involved—I am only too glad to be of service. One lesson I have learned thoroughly from this pilgrimage of life, that is life is a school-room—we're here to learn—to grow—to expand—to build character—to help the race progress. Now that I am descending the sunset slope I deem it an inestimable privilege indeed, to do my little part in helping humanity.

"When I think of the vast hordes of people who are dragging out a miserable existence feeling dull, stupefied, lifeless; the result of the insidious poisons they are generating in their own systems, I tell you it's a source of deep and abiding happiness to think that I can help them—that I can bring the bloom of robust vitality to their pallid cheeks—that I can start the red blood flowing through their system, that I can bring the sparkle of health to their eyes. Already scores of happy, healthy men and women bless the name of Jane Foster; soon I shall number my grateful friends by the thousands. Just send for the free book. How I Added 20 Years to My Life! Don't delay—do it today. Fill out the coupon and mail it—or drop me a postcard. Remember, there is no obligation involved—it's a pleasure to help you. If you don't need my treatment yourself clip this announcement and give it to some friend who would benefit.

AIRSHIP BLOWS UP, KILLING TWENTY-EIGHT

Zeppelin Dirigible Destroyed by Fire on Initial Trip.

Berlin, Oct. 18.—Twenty-eight persons were killed near Johannisthal in the explosion and fall of Count Zeppelin's latest dirigible balloon, the "L.I.I."

The twenty-eight men represented the entire personnel of the admiralty board, which was to conduct the final trial of the dirigible, looking to its acceptance by the government as a new unit of the German aerial navy, the pilot and crew and invited guests.

Every person that went aloft in the big airship is dead.

Many of the bodies were so burned and mangled as to be unrecognizable.

Twenty-seven of them were killed almost instantly by the explosion of the gas in the balloons or burned to death as the flaming wreck fell to the ground from a height of 900 feet and enveloped them. One man, Lieutenant Baron von Bleul of the Queen Augusta Grenadier guards, a guest of the admiralty board, was extricated alive from the mass of twisted wreckage.

His eyes were burned out and he suffered other terrible hurts. Begging his rescuers to kill him and end his suffering he was taken to a hospital, where he died.

The official report of the accident says the explosion was due to the ignition of gas in or above the forward gondola, but not within the body of the airship.

The navy was not the only sufferer through aviation accidents, for three army officers were killed in airplane flights—Captain Haeseler, Lieutenant Koch and Sergeant Mante.

Sons and Grandsons Pall Bearers

The funeral services for Uncle Johnny Kime of the Rockford neighborhood, whose death occurred at St. Francis hospital Wednesday evening, were largely attended Saturday morning at White Cloud Baptist church, where they were held. The sermon was by Rev. H. K. Morga of Graham.

The soldier's burial service was conducted by members of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., at White Cloud church cemetery.

The sons and a grandson of the deceased acted as pall bearers. They were Abraham, Isaac, Samuel, George and John Kime and the latter's son, Charles Kime.

Mrs. Katie Cassidy, a daughter of North Dakota, arrived in time for the funeral, and a grandson, Clyde Kime of Wellsville, Kan., was present.

BRYAN TALKS OF CURRENCY BILL

Secretary Assets Banks Must Submit to Federal Control.

BILL IN PEOPLE'S INTEREST.

Says National Banks for Years Held United States Money in Return for Contributions to Republican Party.
What Government Asks.

Waterloo, Ia., Oct. 18.—"For generations the national banks have held the government's money in return for contributions to campaigns and support of the Republican party."

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan so declared at the Iowa State Dairy show in an address devoted to President Wilson's administrative measures.

Secretary Bryan was speaking of the pending currency bill.

"The currency bill is the most remarkable currency measure that we ever have had," he said. "It gives to the bankers enough to make them happy and doesn't enable them to take enough to make the people miserable. There is one feature about this bill that should win the support of every banker doing a legitimate banking business. Heretofore it has been necessary to put up bonds to secure government money, but by the provisions of the new bill the government loans without requiring bonds. It lets the regional bank take collateral from the banks within the zone and the zone banks put their guarantee on the collateral. This enables the government to put into a community more money than it takes out."

What Government Asks.

The government asks in return something that every banker should be willing to concede; namely, that the government should issue the money itself. Why let the banks issue the money in times of peace, when the government must issue it in time of trouble?" I believe the banks can very well concede this point when they consider the benefits they receive through not having to purchase bonds as security. And they will have to concede this point whether they want to or not. There is one point on which the bankers are divided. It is whether the board that controls the issue shall consist of bankers or government officials."

NAME WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Episcopal Deputies Hold They Are Without Jurisdiction to Act.

New York, Oct. 18.—Any probability that the name of the Protestant Episcopal church of America might be changed at this general convention was disposed of by the house of deputies, which held that it was without jurisdiction to act on resolutions proposing changes in the legal title of the church.

The committee on prayer book recommended delay in considering the memorial from the diocese of California referring specifically to a change in the title page of the prayer book. This question should not be considered, the committee held, until disposition had been made of the proposal to amend the constitution so as to require two-thirds vote to make the change.

The house of deputies voted for the introduction of "five minutes of prayerful silence" in observance of Good Friday at 1 p.m., the hour of the death of Christ.

The chancellors of the various dioceses organized and selected these officers: President, Judge Charles Andrews, western New York; vice president, Gideon C. Wilson, southern Ohio; secretary, George F. Henry, Iowa.
